1.2 DESTINATION BENCHMARKING

During 2005, the Regional Tourist Boards conducted surveys in 13 market towns throughout England to obtain visitors' opinions of a wide range of factors or indicators which together comprise the 'visitor experience'.

Each factor or indicator was rated on a range of one to five, where 1='very poor' (or the most negative response), 2='poor', 3='average', 4='good' and 5='very good' (or the most positive response), allowing an opinion score (out of a maximum of five) to be calculated.

A standardised methodology was used, in terms of the interviewing period and questionnaire design. This allows direct comparisons to be made between the results for individual market towns and the average and highest ('max') scores from all surveys conducted. Market towns included in the 2005 survey are shown below along with additional market towns from the 2004 and 2003 surveys.

2005	2004	2003

The average percentage of people giving an answer of 'very good' (or the most positive response) and the average percentage of people giving an answer of 'very poor' (or most negative answer) is shown for all market towns. For the individual market town, the actual percentage of 'very good' and 'very poor' scores are shown. The maximum and minimum percentage of 'very good' and 'very poor' scores achieved in relation to each factor or indicator is also given for all market towns.

The average, maximum and minimum sample sizes for all market towns are also given.

Sample sizes

Mean opinion scores and percentages have been calculated using amalgamated data from surveys conducted in the destinations listed above. Each destination has been given an equal weighting.

Sample sizes varied significantly between indicators, (because visitors were more likely to use or experience, and therefore comment on, certain facilities, services or features than others) and also varied between destinations.

In almost all cases, sample sizes exceeded 50 respondents. However, in some destinations, samples relating to the following eight indicators were less than 50.

TIC – ease of finding
TIC – quality of service
TIC – usefulness of information provided
Accommodation – quality of service
Accommodation – value for money
Ease of parking
Cost of parking

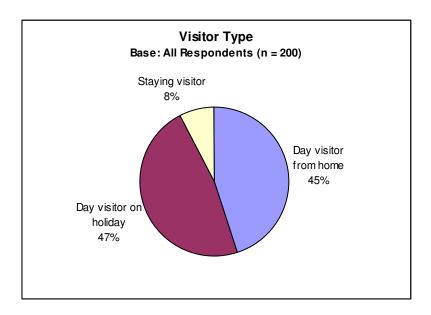

Results relating to these indicators should be interpreted with caution.

As a general guide when using a five point scale (ie: samples of 100 - 1000), there must be a difference of at least 0.2 between two mean scores for this to be significant.
